Does your hectic lifestyle involve late nights, irregular meals and minimal exercise? If so, it's possible that your body has accumulated toxins, leaving you with various health problems, including a bloated feeling and weight gain. If you have resolved to drop a few inches and get healthier in 2011, get a head start with active body wraps.

Suddenly Slender is offering five lucky readers the chance to embark on a wellbeing campaign with a full body wrap programme worth over $10,000!

Suitable for all ages, these body wraps help purge toxins from your body and replenish it with essential minerals. They also eliminate water retention and help burn fat. The result? A leaner, shapelier and more energised you!

Unlike most other body wraps, the ones at Suddenly Slender will not dehydrate your body. Instead it will replenish your body with a range of 175 essential minerals that can be customised according to your specific needs, be it cellulite, localised fat reduction, hormonal imbalances or simply to help you get rid of that post-natal bulge.

So write to us about your body concerns and you could be one of our lucky readers to walk away with a free body wrap programme!
